

VINNYTSIA is developing a socio-spatial concept for the development of a part of the small river Tyazhylivka and a strategy for restoring its biodiversity as a source of environmental sustainability and adaptation to climate change.

Funded by the European Union